

Media Contact:
Robert Henry
Phone: (800) AST-0002
Email: rhenry@astcorporation.com

AST Corporation Launches Fusion Middleware Practice

Naperville, IL. January 1st, 2010: Application Software Technology Corporation (AST) is proud to announce the launching of our Fusion Middleware Practice. This practice will be directed by Shyam Kumar who will be responsible for the delivery of Oracle Middleware Technologies such as Service Oriented Architecture, Enterprise Portal & Content Management. As a Practice Director, Mr. Kumar will provide business development, solution oversight and management of consulting services for clients that are utilizing the Oracle Fusion technology stack. “More and more of our clients are utilizing Oracle’s Middleware products to integrate their IT solutions. With the addition of our Fusion Middleware Practice, AST will officially align both management and technical resources to meet the growing demand for these services.” stated Pravin Kumar, President of AST.

About Mr. Shyam Kumar

Mr. Kumar is an Oracle Middleware practitioner with over thirteen years of industry experience in middleware technologies. He is a Business Technology leader with extensive experience in IT Consulting & Program Management and demonstrating the ability to lead & deliver successful implementations for large IT programs. Visit our Management Team page to learn more about Mr. Kumar.

About Oracle Fusion Middleware and Content Management Tools

Oracle provides a complete, open, industry-leading set of tools that enable the implementation of sustainable integrations across both Oracle and Non-Oracle Applications. Oracle’s Fusion Middleware 11g includes a complete set of tools for Data and Process Integration. This toolset makes it easy to build, deploy, and manage service oriented architecture (SOA) with complete, open, integrated, and best-in-class technology. Additionally, Oracle’s Enterprise Content Management Suite 11g offers a comprehensive, integrated and high-performance content management solution that helps organizations increase efficiency, reduce costs and improve content security.

About AST Corporation

Established in 1995, AST Corporation is an Oracle Platinum Partner, an Oracle University training and delivery partner, and a certified Oracle On-Demand implementation provider. AST offers professional consulting services to Oracle users and serves industry-leading organizations in manufacturing, transportation, insurance, retailing, telecommunications and the Public Sector. Clients look to AST Corporation for assistance in business process redesign, project management, systems integration, systems administration and training.